The Proposed Gas Monopoly.

The Proposed Gas Monopoly.

Editor British Colonist:—A petition is before the Legislature for an exclusive privilege, for the term of fourteen years, to light the town of Victoria with gas. The four petitioners are, Messrs. John T. Little, Michael Lane Calvert, George A. Reynolds, and Mr. Donald Fraser—(!) I think I hear some one ask, why this note of interrogation? I will, in reply, merely say, that I have seen, as others may, if so disposed, a copy, under the great seal of the State of California, of a commission of a Notary Public, and the following oath that the law of the State requires to be taken by a Notary,

But I fear that the matter is got up for the But I fear that the matter is got up for the purposes of speculation, and venture to predict that not one of the petitioners has the intention of carrying out the enterprise, but that all have engaged in it with the view to selling out shares here and elsewhere at the highest price they can obtain, and leaving their friends to infer that when they brought out their scheme they were only gas-sing. Therefore, to sum up, I say that monopolies are always dangerous, and as there is no necessity for the one proposed, I hope it will be vigorously and successfully opposed.

Indian Superstition.—J. S. Maggs informs us, from Webster point, Neeah bay, that recently large numbers of Nittenat Indians have crossed the Straits for the purpose of trading oil with him. They report that there has been great sickness and mortality among the Indians north and that many have died. They have a singular superstition which Mr. Maggs writes is as follows: "They say the Siwashes on the other side have a large hat which they pass from one village to another, and if they let it stop more than five days in one place, the Indians in that village turn into birds, dogs, deer, mules and other animals. There are two little blankets with this hat, whose presence produces the sickness of which they say they are dying. It appears the hat started somewhere north on Vancouver and is coming this way. The Clallams think it best to leave before it gets here, as the Nittenats say they are going to send it across the Straits. If it does come here, I will try and get it for the Smithsonian Institution, for such a novel hat as that would be a great curiosity."

Since the receipt of Mr. Maggs' letter, we have seen some of the Mackah Indians from the Cape, who corroborate the statement. They say that all the Clallam Indians who were on a visit to the Mackah tribe have left in alarm, and that it is generally believed that the sickness produced by the celebrated hat is the small-pox. We informed some of the principal Chiefs here that if Mr. Maggs could buy the hat, it would be sent out of the country and the plague stayed. This confirmation gave them a deal of comfort and no doubt may be a means of diverting their minds from the fear of the sickness, which fear alone, is a cause of half of the deaths among them. We are of the opinion that the story about the sickness is greatly exaggerated; but there is no doubt about their firm belief in the Tomanawas hat.—Port Townsend Register.

The New Treasurer

Among other extraordinary things said and done, none appear more extraordinary to staid citizens, than the appointment of Mr George Tomline Gordon to the high and responsible office of Treasurer of Vancouver Island. The formal announcement of the appointment—duly preceded from time to time by mysterious and significant hints—appeared yesterday in the Gazette extraordinary. The extraordinary part of this extraordinary proceeding, is that the incumbent has never manifested any extraordinary, or even ordinary, qualifications for the position. He is neither popular nor a man of ability; nor even a good book-keeper, in the commercial sense of the term. Inquisitive and curious people imagine that some faithful service — unknown to his constituents— whether honorable or otherwise we shall not say-has been done to entitle him to the position of Chancellor of the Exchequer. Owing to the appointment not being made till after the Election Committee had concluded its labors, there is no reason to pre-sume that his labors there merited such a reward. We have to go further back in order to trace his public history—the potent cause. During the winter of 1858-9, our Chancellor of Exchequer made his debut in Victoria. No man, perhaps, ever expressed more honest indignation at the Company and the Government, than himself. Nothing that either of the parties did was "either fish, flesh, fowl, or good red herring." In a fit of virtuous feeling, he suddenly disappeared to perform a pilgrimage to the enchanting El Dorado of Fraser river, now known, in the language of his patron, as "a bleak and desolate region." Mining, to be productive, required anything but kid-gloveism. In comfort, the rude cabin didn't smack of Almack's, nor even of the Succoursale de L' hotel de France; and a mysterious voice whispered "turn back, Whittington, and become Lord Mayor of London." For some months subsequent to the whisperings of the Genii, humble pie was was eaten in the office of a blackletter lawyer. In August, when the San Juan question assumed a dangerous attitude and a major formerly in the Baji-Bayouky or Bashaw of Bad Jokes was appointed to a civil position in the disputed territory, the gallant Captain Gordon accompanied him as constable. Captain Pickett, the American Commander felt delighted at being summoned in civil process to surrender, by a constable, an ex-captain of the Guards (that was a mistake it was in the militia), and promised the British still greater honor by sending to Oregon for "a live general" to act in a similar capacity for the American magistrate, Mr. Crosbie. This was our Chancellor's first public service, and it was not only a colonial one but it had the merit of being one of a national character. On his return from the war former impressions were effaced, the policy of the administration from being rotten to the core suddenly assumed the rosy hue of health; unpala table expletives fell into disuse, and at that period may be dated the commencement of the extraordinary career of the extraordinary ex-member of Esquimalt.

Since then his history is the history of the obstructive party; which we are sorry to say is the history of the country. By some legerdemain he was returned to the Assem bly for Esquimalt town; and like a real "proficient in the history of the four kings, he played his cards for the Treasury, and won it. A good road between Victoria and Esquimalt, was the road to the confidence of a constituency; but no sooner does the Assembled Wisdom convene, than he lays out the road to the Treasury. During five months of legislative labor, Esquimaltroad hobby has never been ridden; except it may be an attempt to lay out one in a different direction from that wanted by his constituents. Perhaps a different road was the road to the Treasury. The whole line of road—bridges and all—to Esquimalt is now in the most dilapidated condition; and is likely to be till some more disinterested person is returned as its representative And yet after solving the Gordian-knot in voting for the estimates—$90,000 taxes or $30 per head to each inhabitant-and shirking all legitimate inquiry into our financial condition, by bolstering up an unpopular sure, for San Francisco.

administration, the new Treasurer-safely ensconced on the treasury benches—aspires once more to represent his forgotten constituency-the town of Esquimalt.

What merit he has to recommend him either to the Assembly or the Treasury, we fail to perceive. Neither legislative nor administrative ability are traits in his character. As a silent voter, he is unsurpassed In that respect, he has admirably succeeded in a quiet way in cutting down all well tried political principles that have been broached in the Legislature, and in sinking every inquiry tending to investigate our cial position, so much so that his gentlemanly movements remind us of Byron's

IT:

He was the mildest mannered man

With such true breeding of a gentleman,

EXAMINATION OF CRAIGFLOWER SCHOOL -The fifth public examination of the Craigs flower Colonial School was held on Tuesday, in the presence of His Excellency Gov. Douglas and a highly respectable audience.
The room was tastefully decorated with flowers, etc. The pupils, twenty-three in number, were examined by the Rev. E. Cridge, the superintendent, and Mr. Claypole, the teacher, in reading, writing, grammar, arithmetic, history, geography, etc. His Excellency, in distributing the prizes, expressed both to the teacher and the pupils, his gratification at the progress which had been made, and noticed the examination in the subjects of arithmetic, geography and history as deserving of special com-mendation. The following are the names of the pupils who obtained prizes for general excellence: 1st class, Dorothea McKenzie; 2d class, Wm. McKenzie, Robt. Ander son and Mary Lemon; 3d class, Mary Liddle; 5th class, Ellen Melrose. Presents of books were also made to some of the more deserving of the pupils who did not obtain prizes. The prizes, etc., were, as on former occasions at the Craigflower school, the donation of the Governor. Mr. Claypole has been in charge of the school a little more than a year.

ARRIVAL OF HYDAHS .- About thirty canoes, filled with Hydah Indians, entered the harbor yesterday morning. The canoes were searched by the gun-boat, but to the astonishment of all, very few fire-arms were discovered. It came out afterwards that the cunning scamps had brought them in during the night previous by land, and after depositing them in a place of safety, returned to their canoes which were outside.

FILTHY GUTTERS .- The storekeepers and residents on Yates street are complaining of the filthy state of the gutters from Government to Wharf streets. Instead of keeping the chain-gang continually at work in front of the government buildings, a detachment should occasionally be sent to clear out the gutters, which in our principal thoroughfares are made the receptacle of all kinds of filth.

NEW SOUND STEAMER .- A new steame is to be built at Oak Ranch, Port Townsend Bay. The Register says she is to be a propeller, and is intended to run as a regular packet to Portland, Oregon, and Olympia, via Victoria and other ports. Her dimensions are: Length, 94 feet; beam, 21 feet; depth of hold, 7 feet; capacity, about 117 tons carpenter measurement.

FROM THE RIVER .- The steamer Wilson G. Hunt arrived from Fraser River about 7 o'clock last evening. She brings a few pas-sengers, and later news from all parts of the mines, which we are compelled to lay over until our next issue. The news from Rock Creek continues encouraging. Ballou's Express had about $6,000 in dust; in private hands, $12,000.

RUNAWAY .- On Tuesday night, a horse attached to a wagon ran off up Yates street, and spilled the driver opposite the corner of Langley street. He was picked up and carried into Langley Bros.' drug store, where he received proper attention, and was finally taken to the Royal Hotel. His wounds are not of a serious character.

Nor So .- A report was circulated yesterday that the American sloop J. C. Caswell had been granted a coasting license to run between this place and Nanaimo. We have examined the harbormaster's books, and find the statement incorrect—the vessel hav ing cleared for Port Townsend.

WHERE IS IT ?- The Port Townsend Northwest has not been left at our office for two weeks past. Will not our cotemporary see that it is delivered punctually in future?

Warner Reeve Spalding, Esq., has been appointed Postmaster of British Columbia.

The States.

The steamship Great Eastern arrived at New York on the 28th June. She left the Needles at 10 a. m., on the 17th. With the exception of two days, she has experienced fine weather. She has lotty-two passengers, among whom are George Wilkes, Esq., of Wilkes' Spirit of the Times, and several directors of the Company. She steamed the entire passage, ranging from 254 to 333 miles per twenty-four hours. Her engines were not stopped until she was off George's Shoal for sounding. She came in a route southwest direct to the light-ship, where she was boarded by our ship news collecter and Mr. John Van Dusen, of the pilot-boat Washington, No. 4, a business partner of Admiral Murphy, who went to Southampton. For the ship. She was received, on reaching the light-ship, by Capt. Cosgrove, with a salute and the dipping of colors, and as the mist blew away, all the vessels set their bunting, and cheered her. She now lies near the bar, but will not pass over until 3, r. M. She is drawing twenty-seven feet of water aft, and will be trimmed to an even keel before crossing.

near the bar, but will not pass over the r. R. M. She is drawing twenty-seven feet of water aft, and will be trimmed to an even keel before crossing.

The following is the number of miles made per day: 17th, 285; 18th, 296; 19th and 20th, 276 each; 21st, 304; 22d, 280; 23d, 302; 24th, 299; 25th, 320; 26th, 333; 27th, 254. From one of the passengers we obtained the following information: There are 38 passengers and eight guests, all in the best of health, and have been so during the entire voyage, which has been a particularly fine one and full of interest. It has demonstrated all the Great Eastern's superiority as a sea-going vessel and the excellence and reliability of her machinery. The highest speed attained was 141-2 knots. The ship's bottom is very foul, and an allowance of at least two knots an hour should be made on that account. The distance from Southampton, as usually steamed, is 3,190 miles, but to avoid the ice she went further south. The throngs at the Battery, and on the various piers on the North River, were immense. Many salutes were fired in her honor. She was decked with flags from bow to stern. She moved very rapidly through the bay, only one of the many steamers being able to keep up with her. The frigate Niagara, lying in the stream, looked very small in comparison.

The Great Eastern was moored at her dock at about seven o'clock. Her immense length covers two entire blocks. Great crowds are still flocking to see her at sunset, and there appears to be no end to the curiosity and admiration with which she is received.

The split in the Democratic party still continues. The war is fiercer between the two wings, than between the Democrats and Republicans. The editors of Democratic papers are "on the fence," and don't know which side to get down on. Douglas and Breckenringe have each accepted the nomination of their respective wings. Lincoln stock is looking up, and the Republicans have strong hopes of an easy victory. Senator Fitzpatrick has declined running for the Vice Presidency on the same ticket with Douglas.

We have dates from Tepic to the 30th of May, and important news.

On the 24th of May an army of Liberals, led by Generals Uraga, Ogazou and Valle, attacked Guadalajara, and entered the city, but after a long and stubborn contest, were driven out, leaving many of their arms in the streets.

Gen. Uraga was wounded seriously in the leg, which was amputated, and he was taken prisoner.

Gen. Woll of the Church party, was seriously wounded. President Miramon arrived in Guadalajara on the 27th of May.

The Liberal leaders—Antonio Rojas, Placido Vega, Manuel Marquez and Ramon Corona, were in the vicinity of Guadalajara with a large force at the time of the attack, and after the repulse they held a conslation to determine what should be done. We are not informed about their determination.

We presume that it was the plan for all these Liberal leaders to unite their troops to attack Guadalajara, but that Uraga, Ogazon and Valle were anxious to have all the glory to themselves, and made the attack with an inefficient force.
